

Today was my first day off from my new job, but I still had to wake up early. I had a presentation of my quarter-long final project today for my business class and it was interesting to see other people projects since none of us really talk to each other outside of the zoom sessions. A lot of us had different ideas on what we were supposed to do for it and I think mine was a little too light on the details, but I honestly don't think the professor

175/1000

 Tap to speak

Today was my first day off from my new job, but I still had to wake up early. I had a presentation of my quarter-long final project today for my business class. I also saw my friend today, we had lunch in an outdoor area.

✓ Save

Diary

31-7-2020, 22:48

Today was my first day off from my new job, but I still had to wake up early. I had a presentation of my quarter-long final project today for my business class. I also saw my friend today, we had lunch in an outdoor area.

Today was my first day off from my new job, but I still had to wake up early. I had a presentation of my quarter-long final project today for my business class and it was interesting to see